

MAGAZINE

BLOG

MULTIMEDIA

EVENTS

BOOKS

NEXT GENERATION

CONTINUING EDUCATION

DESIGNMART

SUBSCRIBE

30 beautiful
lever designs

METROPOLIS P/O/V

Welcome to Metropolis's blog, where you'll find daily commentary on architecture, culture, and design.

Tips?

pov@metropolismag.com

RSS feed

Chasing
The Perfect
BUY IT HERE

Real Estate, Real Aesthetes

By George Beane

Wednesday, October 7, 2009 2:54 pm

THERE'S A THIN LINE BETWEEN AN EXPENSE & AN INVESTMENT

VISTA
WINDOW FILM

AN ENERGY SAVING UPGRADE WITH AN AVERAGE PAYBACK OF LESS THAN THREE YEARS.

Photos: Mark la Rosa/courtesy Pratt Institute

It's not every day that recent design-school graduates get to see their work showcased in finished residences, but Pratt students will get that chance soon, thanks to a collaboration between the university and the New York-based developer Hudson Companies. More than 90 students, faculty, and alumni from the institute will display their furniture, textiles, lighting, and an assortment of other home furnishings in two model apartments designed by Rogers Marvel Architects at Third + Bond—a 44 unit, townhouse-style development in Carroll Gardens that mixes luxury condominium housing with environmental design (the entire project's on track to receive LEED Gold and Energy Star certifications). Inside the apartments, prospective buyers will find everything from teapots to first aid kits, all Pratt-made, in an arrangement curated by Anthony Caradonna, an alum and professor at the School of Architecture. It's student meets teacher, academic meets commercial, on display at 115 Third Street beginning next week.

Check out more photos of the Third + Bond interiors after the jump.

Recent Posts

Q&A: Gail Vittori on the Green-Hospitals Imperative
A Room for All Seasons
Real Estate, Real Aesthetes Make It Float
Design Revolution in the West Village
The Scent of an Aalto
The Street View: D.C. Envy

Popular Topics

architecture, art, bicycles, books, education, energy, exhibitions, film, Frank Gehry, Frank Lloyd Wright, furniture, graphic design, hospitality, ICFE, industrial design, infrastructure, interiors, landscape, LEED, lighting, materials, Muji, New York, photography, planning, preservation, skyscrapers, slide shows, sustainability, technology, transportation

Categories

Bookshelf

News and reviews from our ever-expanding library

First Person

Dispatches and diatribes from all over

In the News

Opinionated commentary on architecture and design news

Letter from Baltimore

Elizabeth Evitts Dickinson on design in the Charm City

Metropolis Minute

Behind-the-scenes videos

from the magazine

Product Developments
New furniture, gadgets,
clothing, and more

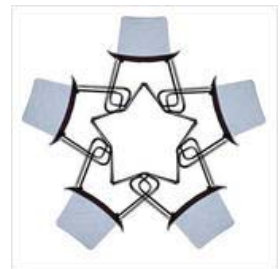

The Street View
Kristi Cameron on livable
streets and cities

The Yale Building Project
A design-build blog

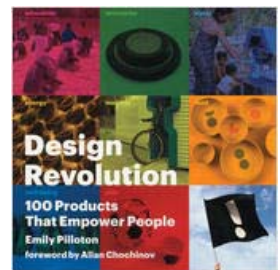

Elsewhere on This Site

Frank Gehry, Writ Smaller

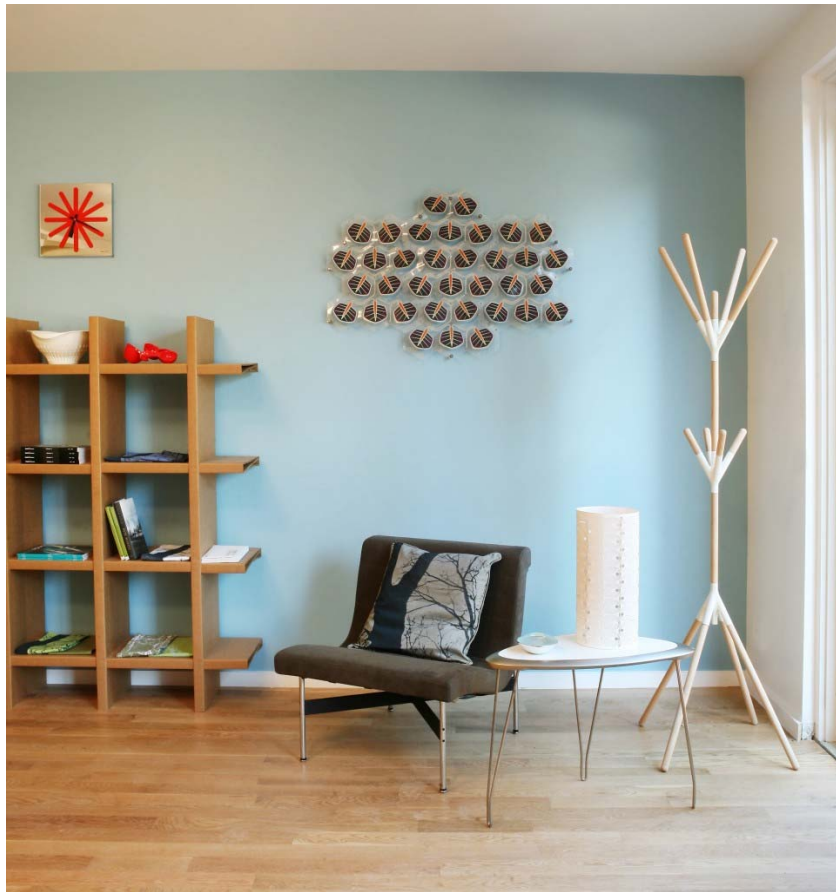

Is the Death of American
Design Greatly Exaggerated?

Emily Pilloton's Design Revolution

Fifty Years of the Four Seasons

A Julius Shulman Slide Show

At Last, a Folding Bike That Doesn't Look Ridiculous

John Hockenberry on Product Design in the Global Recession

The Eccentric Team Behind the New Ace and Standard Hotels

A Chair Designed for Women's Unique Sitting Habits

Links

A Daily Dose of Architecture

Archinect
Architecture for Humanity
ArchNewsNow
Arkhitekton
BLDGblog
Brooklyn Modern
Center for Architecture
City of Sound
Core77
CUP
Curbed
Design Observer
Design Sponge
Dezeen
Inhabitat
Land + Living
Life Without Buildings
MoCo Loco
Natalia Ilyin
Pruned
Putting People First
Storefront for Architecture and Design
Subtopia
Subtraction
The Architects Newspaper
The Architectural League
The Book Design Review
The Center for Land Use
Interpretation
The Dirt
Treehugger
U.S. Green Building Council
UnBeige
Urban Palimpsest

Comments \(2\) / Add a comment + SHARE f t ...

Categories: On View

2 Comments »

1. Bizarre!

These interiors are for University Students? Where's the utility? If this is what Pratt considers good design and good furniture selection, let hope there are some Administration personnel changes planned.

Comment by Anon — October 7, 2009, @ 3:11 pm

2. A clarification for the previous commenter: These are model units for a residential development, not university housing.

Comment by Mason Currey — October 7, 2009, @ 3:15 pm

Leave a comment

Name (required)

Mail (will not be published) (required)

Website